Abstract

The most used and efficient method of communication in recent times is an application and websites. To know about company beforehand or knowing about staff as well as their work is important. This is introductory webpage of company.

Introduction

In this report I have proposed a webpage for the agency. Which suggest viewer to know more about agency itself. I add some vital question that can arise in viewer's mind and try answering them.

Methodologies

1. CSS:

A CSS methodology is a set of guidelines for writing modular, reusable and scalable code. Although CSS is an easy language to write, without an agreed-upon convention, the code gets messy almost as fast as it is written. Since each CSS declaration is defined on its own line, files get huge quickly, making them a nightmare to maintain.

2. HTML:

HTML stands for HyperText Markup Language. It is a standard markup language for web page creation. It allows the creation and structure of sections, paragraphs, and links using HTML elements (the building blocks of a web page) such as tags and attributes.

HTML has a lot of use cases, namely:

- Web development. Developers use HTML code to design how a browser displays web page elements, such as text, hyperlinks, and media files.
- Internet navigation. Users can easily navigate and insert links between related pages and websites as HTML is heavily used to embed hyperlinks.
- Web documentation. HTML makes it possible to organize and format documents, similarly to Microsoft Word.

It's also worth noting that HTML is not considered a programming language as it can't create dynamic functionality. It is now considered an official web standard. The World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) maintains and develops HTML specifications, along with providing regular updates.

This article will go over the basics of HTML, including how it works, its pros and cons, and how it relates to CSS and JavaScript.

This is how our first page of website looks.

Results and Discussion

This webpage project was given to me by my team leader. I played active part in whole website creation. I had privilege to design first introductory page for the company website. I did little extra work on menus.

Conclusion

I have design the webpage for a first time. I learned how to work as a team with my partner who handled back end I also learned how to fulfill requirement. Sometimes requirements are not appropriate then how to deal with them and negotiate such as they wouldn't feel insulted. I learned much of soft skills here like how to communicate, make documentation or emailing stuff. Working in the industry has boost up my confidence. I am glad I got opportunity to learn during this internship.
